Laurie Campbell is one of Scotland's leading Natural History and Landscape Photographers, and his award winning images feature regularly in the BBC WILDLIFE Magazine, and OUTDOOR PHOTOGRAPHY Magazine for which Laurie writes regularly. He is the true master of photographing genuinely wild creatures and their natural environments in a spectacular way.

'Taking Stock' is an stunning encounter with the Natural History and Landscape of his native Scotland. His uniquely creative approach to capturing Scottish Wildlife and Landscape images leaves a lasting impression, and the range and extent of Laurie's coverage remains unsurpassed with his style being endlessly emulated the world over. This is a lecture not to be missed ! Laurie's website : <http://www.lauriecampbell.com/>

Tickets can be obtained from the Box Office at Sale Waterside Theatre, £8.00.
