Ben Hall has gained worldwide recognition as one of Britain's foremost professional wildlife photographers.. He is immensely experienced, and is an amiable and thought-provoking speaker, and his winning images feature regularly in photographic journals and magazines such as BBC Wildlife, Practical Photography, Outdoor Photography, Photography Monthly and Cheshire Life, to name but a few.

With a lifelong passion for the natural world, Ben has used his skill in photography to capture many stunning images. He is driven by the need to protect and preserve Britain's last fragile ecosystems, as testified by his work for the RSPB, various Wildlife Trusts and other conservation organisations.

His talk "Moments in Nature" is guaranteed to leave audiences spellbound. This is a lecture not to be missed!
